A New Resumption Bill.

The Democratic leaders in Congres seem to have come to the conclusion that something must be dene about the finances. The meeting at the house of Feruando Wood, on Saturday evening last, was for the purpose of assembling their ideas and embodying them in a measure to be presented for consideration and enactment. The result of that meeting was the bill presented on Monday by Mr. Fernando Wood. The full text of the bill, as telegraphed by the special correspon dent of the World, is as follows:

An act to provide for the gradual re-sumption of specie payments. SECTION 1. following from an exchange and commend its careful perusal to the youth of our city:

I wonder how many girls tell their mother everything. Not those "young ladies," who going to and from school, smile, bow, and exchange notes and pictures with young men who make fun of them and their pictures, speaking in a way that would make their cheeks burn with shame if they heard it. All this, most creductions and romantic young ladies, they will do, although they will gaze upon your fresh young face admiringly, and send of give you charming verses or hoquets. No matter what "other girls do," don't you do it. School-girl liftrations may end disastrously, as many a foolish, wretched young girl could tell you. Your yearning for some one to love is a great need of every woman's heart. But there is a time for everything. Don't let the bloom and freshness of your heart be brushed off in silly flirtations. Render yourself truly mother everything. Never be ashamed to tell her, who should be your best friend and confidente, all you think and feel. It is strange that many young girls will tell every person before "mother"

Trial of State Treasurer John S. Burdett.

After the holiday vacation the Senate again met at their chamber in the MeLure House at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mr. E. D. York, employed as stenographer to report and transcribe the evidence in the trial of Messrs. Burdett and Bennett, was sworn to do the same correctly to the best of his ability.

At 10:30 the President of the Supreme Court of Appeals (Mr. Haymond), the managers appointed to conduct the trial (Messrs. Good, Blakemore, Stuart and Carliel), and the counsel of Treasurer Burdett (Messrs. Morrow, Arnett and Davenport), entered the Senate chamber and took the seats assigned to them.

By direction of the President the roll was then called, when the following members responded to their names: Messrs. Bennett, Berkshire, Bishop, Caldwell, Camden, Clayton, Cunningham, Dennis, Dickinson, Eastham, Ferrell, Grantham, Goff, Johnson, MeDonald, MeGinnis, Price, Scott, Shelton and Sherrard.

The President inquired of the managers if they were ready to proceed to the trial of Mr. Blakemore replied that they were not, and desired an adjournment of the Courte't until this morning; and the counsel of respondent raising no objection, this action was taken.

TAXING BANK DEPONITS.

Treasurer New's Statement of the Law---No Deduction for Reserves.

New York, January 12.—F. D. Tappen, President of the Uallatin National Bank of Wall street, wrote recently to the Treasury Department at Washington relative to the tax of 4 of 1 per cent on deposits. His letter included the following:

The act of Congress imposes a tax of one-half of one per centum on capital, etc., beyond the amount invested in United States bonds. Now, the Supreme Court decided (in 7 Wallace, 26) that United States bonds. Now, the Supreme Court decided (in 7 Wallace, 26) that the set of expenses of the scate of congellations within the meaning of the act exempting United States bonds from State and municipal taxation. Is it not, therefore, a perfectly legal deduction that the legal tender notes which banks are compelled to retain in their vaults

His letter included the following:

The act of Congress imposes a tax of one-half of one per centum each half year upon the notes in circulation; one-quarter of one per centum on capital, etc., beyond the amount invested in the school (and they are all his friends) presented him with a set of ten pastor, one-half of Brother Collier, and the school (and they are all his friends) presented him with a set of ten pastor, one-half of Brother Collier, which davages to the Congress of the Mankington of the friends of the Congress of the Mankington of the friends of the Congress of the Mankington of the Congress of the

Is it not also a fair inference that the words "beyond the amount invested in United States bonds" refer to the preceding sentences in the section of the National Currency act imposing the tax or semi-annual duty on circulation, deposits, and capital? of securing the benefits that may result from the advantages required. In regard to the decision of the Supreme Court, to which you refer, I do not feel at liberty to interpet it as releasing United States notes from the duty imposed by the Government on the proportion of such notes the bank may have in reserve, as provided by law. It would require a decision or opinion having direct reference to the question you raise, to secure any change or modification of the ruling heretofore adopted by this Department.

pen's argument was as follows:

Section 5,215 Revised Statutes of the United States requires that each National bank shall report the average amount of its deposits for the six months preceding the 1st day of January and July in each year, to enable the Treasurer to make an assessment of one-quarter of one per cent on the amount so reported. There is no provision in the law for a deduction of the amount of deposits held as reserve, and therefore no authority for authorizing or permitting a deduction, or for receiving any return that does not give the average deposits in full to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States. It is true, as you state, that the reserve lies idle in the bank, and cannot of itself earn the duty imposed; nevertheless the fact that there is a reserveenables the bank to make active use of the great bulk of deposits without impairing the confidence of depositors. To keep the reserve is an obligation conceded by the bank in its organization, as a means of securing the benefits that may result from the advantages required.
